Subject: Madrona School CUP at Lowrey Farm

Dear COBI:

My four-year-old attends Madrona School, where he spends portions of his week immersed in exploring the natural world at Lowrey Farm. The school provides something few other educational institutions can: an invitation to develop a genuine love of learning, both about himself and about the world around him. I fully support Madrona School's plans to build a new campus on Lowrey Farm. A campus that provides continual immersion in the natural world can echo the experience students from all over Puget Sound find at IslandWood. Indeed, Madrona's plans for the Lowrey campus exhibit an attention to holistic design and a commitment to environmental stewardship that would foster a kinship with not only IslandWood but also Bainbridge's commitment to care for our island and our community.

Thank you,
